

SEEN AS BIGAMIST BY MATE HE THOUGHT FREED HIM YEARS AGO

WIFE NO. 2 S WORE TO ARMY HERO

Captain Holland Believed First Spouse Wed Again—Now Faces Divorce Bill.

Like Enoch Arden, Mrs. Margaret Crosse Holland, first wife of Capt. Hubert H. B. Holland, who claims to have been a labor commissioner in the employment service of the War Department, has come out of the forgotten past and filed suit for divorce, claiming the captain is a bigamist.

FOUGHT IN BOER WAR.

Captain Holland, who is a French-Canadian by birth, spent many years in Africa and India as army engineer and big game hunter. He was in the Boer war, and took up arms in the world war, but was incapacitated in the first battle at Thiepval, after which he came to the United States to seek employment with the War Department.

Leaving Washington in 1918, Captain Holland married a second time, believing, as he maintains, that his first wife, whom he had not seen for years, had obtained a divorce from him. In filing the divorce paper, Wife No. 1 named the second wife as "an unknown woman." This appellation has greatly grieved Wife No. 2, who declared:

"I would have cared so much if this woman, No. 1, had named me in the paper, but to be called an 'unknown woman' is a reflection that I will not allow to pass. It is unbearable, and the captain and I intend to fight this case with every cent we have."

MARRIED HER IN 1905.

In his statement to reporters, Captain Holland said he married his first wife in Beatty, a small town in Nevada, in 1905.

"Her name was Margaret Crosse," said the captain. "We immediately went to live in Los Angeles, but a few days after we had settled there she left me. I searched for her and found her, but she left me again. I found her the second time, but she left me for the third time, and I determined to let her go."

FELT FREE TO WED AGAIN.

Captain Holland said he learned his wife had married J. W. Van Praag, a furniture dealer of San Francisco, so he felt free to marry a second time. Had Captain Holland not written his first wife that he had again married, she probably would not be in the New York courts today. Two months ago he met his friend, Ex-Supreme Court Judge W. M. K. Olcott, who, he says, suggested that he write his first wife of his second marriage.

"As she did as the judge suggested," said Captain Holland, "and a few days later I learned my wife intended to divorce me. Had I known she had not obtained the divorce, I would not have married a second time."

WIFE ASKS TIMES' HELP IN FINDING C. E. CRAWFORD

Fireman Disappeared January 3 After Cashing Pay Check. Foul Play Feared.

"I am heartbroken over my husband's disappearance. I am practically penniless and I haven't had a good night's rest since he suddenly dropped out of sight on January 3."

Such was the story told today by Mrs. Charles E. Crawford, who appealed to the police and The Washington Times Bureau of Missing Persons to aid in the search for her vanished spouse.

Crawford, who is described as being forty years old, five feet eight inches tall, "slightly bow-legged and a great cigarette smoker," was last employed as a fireman in the Corby yeast plant at Langdon, D. C. On January 3 he received a check for a considerable sum of money and left the plant but has not been seen by his fellow employees or his wife since then. The police say they ascertained that he cashed the check at a bank in the northeast section of the city.

Mrs. Crawford said her husband was fond of fishing and made frequent trips to Chain Bridge. She fears he may have met with foul play at the hands of someone who saw him cash the large check, or that he fell into the river.

CHEW FACES COURT ON GEM THEFT AND FORGERY CHARGES

Captain Taken Over by Army Officials After Looting of Sublet Apartment.

Capt. Beverly G. Chew, U. S. A., formerly stationed in Washington, is on trial before a court-martial at Governor's Island, New York, as a result of his arrest here with Mrs. Marjorie B. Chew, his wife, in connection with the alleged theft of more than $3,000 worth of silver, furs, cut glass and other articles from the home of Mrs. Mary G. McClintock at the Stonleigh Apartments.

Captain Chew also is charged with having passed several worthless checks, and his wife walked out of the apartment with the stolen goods. The couple had been attending a social function, with a $500 seal coat, police will try to prove.

Brought to trial in Washington, Captain Chew and his wife were held for the action of the grand jury, but the officer was taken into custody by the army officials.

According to Detective Sergeant Edward J. Kelly and Arthur B. Scoville, who arrested the couple, and who left today for New York to attend the trial of the army officer, Captain Chew and his wife subleased the apartment of Mrs. McClintock last summer when she left Washington for the summer. When Mrs. McClintock returned last fall she declared many things had disappeared.

WAR CLERK "FIRED" FOR

"LION" TALE GETS NEW JOB

R. J. Quinn, former assistant chief clerk in the adjutant general's office, War Department, whose dismissal during the past week followed publication of "The Lion of the North" in the Recluse, announced today his appointment as general agent in this city for the Maryland Assurance Corporation.

Quinn, who is first vice president of the Departmental Bank building, 1714 Pennsylvania avenue, Quinn is probably one of the best known men in local departmental circles, having been a leading spirit in furthering the reclassification of the Federal Civil Service and an active worker in Federal Employees' Union, No. 2, of Washington.

WANTS PA. AVENUE OPEN

TO SIGHTSEEING BUSES

Protesting against the removal of sightseeing cars from Pennsylvania avenue, Hamilton H. Farnum, president of the Sightseeing Automobile Lecturer and Standmen's local union, 17476, yesterday wrote to the District commissioners.

The commissioners' order, according to Farnum, affects the livelihood of fifty men employed by the sightseeing companies. He declared that there are only eight sightseeing cars on the avenue while there are at least 100 hacking cars.

HACKERS WILL BE ELIMINATED FOR MILE ON AVENUE

Expect Ban on Commercial Autos From Capitol to State Dept. Building.

Public hackers will be driven from all cab stands on Pennsylvania avenue within a short time.

This was forecast today when it was learned that Capt. Albert E. Headley, chief of the traffic bureau, has recommended to the Superintendent of Police that all cab stands on Pennsylvania avenue be discontinued. It is believed that Major Gessford, Superintendent of Police, will endorse the plan, as it is in keeping with the ideas of Commissioner Oyster, that the Avenue be cleared of hackers.

It is believed, that the clearing of the Avenue will extend from the Capitol to the State, War, and Navy Department building.

Probably the worst hardship on the hackers will be those who occupy stands on the south side of the Avenue between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets northwest. On the orders of the Commissioners recently they were moved from the north side to the south side of the Avenue. The present plan contemplates the doing away with the south side as a hacking stand.

Hack stands will be designated to take place of the ones which will be discontinued. It is said, and every effort will be made to designate a place that will give them opportunity to do as much business as they have done heretofore.

Commissioner Oyster does not want to injure the hackers' business, he has said on several occasions, and has had Captain Headley make an extensive survey of the situation.

Dr. Charles Stanley White, 311 Sixteenth street, northwest, called the attention of the policemen to the animal after he had seen it acting strangely. It was feared the monkey had been inoculated with death-dealing germs and the policemen took no chance in letting it escape.

U. S. RECOGNITION OF ERIN URGED BY MISS MACSWINEY

"It Would Be an Act of Justice," Says Sister of Late Cork Lord Mayor.

"It would be an act of justice on the part of the United States to recognize the government of Ireland," declared Miss Mary MacSwiney, sister of the late Lord Mayor of Cork at a mass meeting last night under the auspices of the American Association for Relief in Ireland in Gontaga Hall, 45 I street northwest.

Congressman William T. Mason of Illinois also spoke at the meeting. Rosa F. Downing presided.

"This Government need have no fear of making enemies with England over the recognition of Ireland," continued Miss MacSwiney.

"In the first place, England owes the United States $5,000,000,000, and she can't even pay the interest on it. She cannot borrow money from Russia, France, Japan or Germany because they are in similar straits, and the only country in a position to lend her money is the United States. America is the only solvent nation in the world today."

"The Irish people will never give in until England is beaten down," Miss MacSwiney urged.

MacSwiney urged Americans to join the American Association for the Recognition of Ireland.

Congressman Mason described the action of Sir Auckland Geddes in presenting a wreath at the memorial service at Arlington yesterday as "presumptuous."

MRS. HARDING INDORSES

NEAR EAST CAMPAIGN

An S. O. S. to every man, woman and child across the United States, to contribute to the aid of the destitute inhabitants of the Holy Land was sent out today by Mrs. Warren G. Harding.

The appeal for her Near East relief support reads as follows:

"From across the seas destitute Christians and Jewish peoples in the Bible country, piteously cry to America for the 'crumbs' from our tables and the old clothes from our closets. Through no fault of their own, these ancient races who were loyal to their God, and to the allied cause, find themselves unable to earn a livelihood or rebuild homes. All they possessed has been destroyed."

"Throughout this great land of ours has gone the S. O. S. of the Near East relief, and from our country, every man, woman and child is asked to share spare clothing, so that little helpless children and hundreds of thousands of men and women, who are now desperately trying to cover emaciated bodies with rags, and burly bags, shall be saved from death, by exposure next winter."

"Have we not all of us, some things to spare, or a few dollars to spare? Let us share them with the children of America who have forgotten how to smile and play, and if you take your bundles to the nearest Near East relief clothing station on June 1, the 'Good Samaritan Ship' will carry aid to the countless numbers who are in dire need of our help."

"FLORENCE KLING HARDING."

Packages of discarded clothing will be received tomorrow at all the fire stations, R. F. Keiths and the Rialto Theatre, and Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church.

LAWYERS SUGGEST DRASTIC CHANGES IN FEDERAL CODE

Procedure at Present is Too Complicated, They Tell House Rules Committee.

Leading lawyers from nearly every state in the Union today appeared before the House Rules Committee, which began a hearing on a resolution to consider legislation for improving the Federal judicial system. Coordination of procedure in Federal Courts throughout the country was urged and the courts relieved of hearing trivial cases, such as violations of the Federal Prohibition laws, cases involving the transportation of automobiles, and other small and unimportant cases that could be handled by a United States Commissioner or some local court.

"We do not want and are not trying to get additional Federal criminal laws," said J. Bond Smith, of the District bar and a member of the District committee, "and the hearing has nothing whatever to do with the Federal revised statutes. What we are trying to do is to get the rules committee to make a favorable report on the concurrent resolution now pending before the committee, authorizing the appointment of a joint committee composed of five Senators and seven Representatives to consider what legislation in relation to the courts of the United States, the procedure thereon, and the judges thereof, would tend to improve the administration of justice and to report to the Congress a bill to carry the recommendations of the joint committee into effect."

At a dinner of the lawyers committee on judicial reform, at the Shoreham Hotel, last night, former Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia; Senator William King, of Utah; and E. M. Foggie, president of the Cincinnati Bar Association, and other prominent lawyers, urged a better Federal system and increased pay for judges.

The national officers of the committee are Thomas B. Reider, George H. Fearson, and William L. Ransom, all of the New York bar.

The local committee is composed of C. C. Carlin, Hoke Smith, A. S. Worthington, Alexander Brainerd, and J. Bond Smith, of the District of Columbia bar.

JUMPS OUT WINDOW

TO ESCAPE HUSBAND

Leaping out a window at her home to escape her husband's cruelty, she alleges, was the last straw in the matrimonial difficulties of Mrs. Dollie F. Anderson, formerly yeoman (F), and at present employed in the War Department, who today in the District Supreme Court against Andrew Carroll Anderson, for a limited divorce and alimony.

Mrs. Anderson, represented by Attorney Raymond Neudecker, alleges that after her husband was injured while employed by a railroad company, she nursed and supported him for almost three years and that since he has recovered and is able to work he does not support her.

Plaintiff alleges that defendant "shows his attentions upon another woman, staying in her apartments at the Rutland for hours at a time" and that he spends his money on other women and receiving telephone calls from them.

Mrs. Anderson also avers that she bought the furniture in their home and has an equity in the apartment building purchased and asks the court to establish her rights and to prevent her husband from molesting her. The couple were married in this city November 16, 1916, and have no children.

Krack Asks New Name.

His name being an "object for jest and ridicule on account of its peculiar sound," Bernard Krack today filed a petition in the District Supreme Court to change it to "Bernard K. Kerin." He says Kerin is his mother's surname.

WEDS SISTER OF GIRL KILLED BY HIS AUTOMOBILE

Highway Tragedy Leads to Marriages of John E. Waters and Miss Agnes Mulligan.

A five months' romance, dating from the bridegroom's accidental slaying of the bride's sister, resulted yesterday in the marriage of Agnes M. Mulligan, of 3207 Northampton street, Chevy Chase, and John E. Waters, of Berwyn, Md., overseas veteran and former inspector of roads for the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The ceremony was performed at the home of friends near the District line by the Rev. Thomas G. Smyth, of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament.

The tragedy in which Alleine W. Mulligan, pretty 16-year-old sister of Mrs. Waters, met her death and which resulted in the acquaintance leading to yesterday's wedding, occurred the evening of January 27 last, on the Baltimore pike near Hyattsville.

BLINDED BY HEADLIGHTS.

Miss Mulligan, a student at Maryland University and former business partner of her sister, was walking along the road with four other young women and a boy companion. Waters, driving past them, was blinded by the glare from the headlights of an oncoming army motor truck and struck the pedestrians from the rear. All but one were injured. Miss Mulligan suffered a fracture of the skull and, without regaining consciousness, died in the Emergency Hospital here forty-eight hours later, on Waters' birthday anniversary. The other victims recovered.

Over the stricken girl's bed the following night Waters met his future wife. On April 7 the grand jury of Prince Georges county returned an indictment of manslaughter against him and it was not until he was placed on trial in the United States circuit court at Upper Marlboro a week later that they again saw each other.

After a grueling two-day legal fight, during which Miss Mulligan bent every effort to prevail upon her family to abandon the prosecution, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. With the end of the trial began a swift courtship.

KNEW FATE DECREED IT.

"Ever since that moment in the courtroom at Upper Marlboro," said Mrs. Waters as she was leaving the church yesterday, "when John came to me and declared his innocence, I have known that fate decreed we should meet, although it resorted to drastic means to effectuate the meeting. There was never any doubt in my mind as to the outcome of the trial, because there was clearly no possibility of establishing criminal negligence."

Waters is twenty-nine and saw service in the A. E. F. driving an ambulance for three months on five of the major battle fronts. He is a Washingtonian by birth and for several years has been in the employ of the Maryland roads commission. He gave up his position to get the ball and enter the real estate business with his bride.

Mrs. Waters is twenty-seven years old and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mulligan, of New York. Her mother, for some time, was a woman operator in the real estate exchange of that city. Mrs. Waters is associated with Fulton R. Gordon, specialist in suburban property, with offices in the Colorado Building.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Waters left for a honeymoon of several weeks, which will be spent touring the Cumberland mountains.
